Goodfellows pass out holiday gifts

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

Hundreds of Romulus youth and senior citizens will be celebrating a much merrier Christmas this week thanks to the Romulus Goodfellows and its support team of caring citizens.

Goodfellows drive chairman Deputy Fire Chief Robert Pecsenye reported that more than 30 volunteer firemen and other citizens braved the inclement weather several weeks ago to collect more than $5,450 for needy families.

Fire Chief William Greenslait this week reported that for the second year in a row an anonymous business man contributed massive amounts of toys, including 100 pairs of roller blades.

The 483 separate toys ranged in store prices from $9.98 to $19.98, Greenslait said. "In most cases we gave

Among the donated items were Cabbage Patch dolls, hockey games, Magic Johnson Double Jam games, Baby Cub Surprise and vanity sets, Greenslait said.

In addition a number of gifts came from the holiday tree display in Mayor Beverly McAnally's office, including warm mittens, winter hats and slippers.

In addition to donations from senior citizens, gifts were offered by Central Distributing, United Parcel Service, Lear Seating, United Brass, Woodbridge Manufactuers and a woman identified only as Miss Underwood.

Armed with the names of more than 300 families, the various volunteers visited the homes personally and if no one was there, the volunteers left notes for the parties to call fire headquarters.

Both Greenslait and Pecsenve offered their thanks for the overwhelming support from both the donors and the volunteers. "This kind of support gives all our guys and gals a tremendous holiday glow," Greenslait said.

The Romulus man reported that the auctions were not handicapped accessible and were poorly attended. He also charged that the officers conducting the auction were rude

"I wrote a letter to Carol Bowman, the acting court administrator, and outlined the allegations - that the auctions were held secretly, a limited number of notices were posted and a court officer bought items at the auction," Johnson said. "I received a response that addressed some of the questions.

"I was told by Judge William Szlinis that the court officers conducting the auctions are private contractors," said

Johnson. "However, the citizen reported that they appear to be representing the court because they were wearing uniforms and badges and were carrying weapons."

Johnson decided to attend an action himself to obtain a first-hand account of how the auctions are conducted.

"I went to the site of the auction, which was at a Romulus address, and arrived about 10 minutes before the auction was scheduled. A court officer told me that the auction had been moved to Dearborn Heights, and I drove to the new location - a garage - and was told by another court officer that the auction was over," Johnson said. "I asked the uniformed court officer what items were auctioned and how much they sold for, and he de-

Gun game claims life

A pre-Christmas party between life-long friends turned to tragedy early Sunday morning at the Merriman Executive Inn when a Dearborn Heights resident accidentally shot himself to death in front of his three close friends, according to Romulus police.

Police said Hamilton Blackburn, 20, and three friends from Taylor and Inkster had apparently been drinking beer and hard liquor Saturday night at the hotel at 7600 Merriman Road.

Blackburn then reportedly picked up the gun again, placed it in his mouth and pulled the trigger.

One of the surviving trio then quickly called the hotel front desk and 9-1-1.

But when Romulus Emergency Medical Technicians arrived at the Merriman Executive Inn they found that Blackburn was already dead.

Romulus police questioned the victim's girlfriend and two Inkster men called his "long time buddies," and have ten-tatively termed the shooting "accidental" pending an official report from the Wayne County Coroner's office.

Romulus teen given 2 years probation

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

A Romulus teen accused of throwing a girl into a bonfire last June was given two years probation and ordered to pay $720 in supervision cost last Thursday. Michael Tomason was reportedly celebrating his birthday with several male friends, police charge, when he decided to call a 17-year-old girl to the party.

Originally the girl victim said Tomason dropped her into a bonfire, when she refused to submit to his sexual requests.

He was arraigned on that charge before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski, who set bail at $50,000 cash.

Later the victim dropped the sex claims in her assault charges, when a pre-trial hearing was conducted before Judge William Szlinis and the judge lowered the charge to felonious assault before sending it to Recorder's Court in Detroit for trial.

Last week a three-day bench trial was held before Recorder's Court Judge Terrance Boyle.

Infant donations collected

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

Hundreds of infant clothing items, furniture and food supplies were donated to St. Aloysius Catholic Church last Sunday in celebration of the annual "Christ Child Shower."

Laura Coomer, an organizer of the effort, said hundreds of articles were turned in by church members following the 8, 10 and 12 o'clock masses. The donated articles were then in turn given to the Helping Hand Thrift Store at 11280 Ozga Road so that they could be given to needy expectant mothers in Romulus, Belleville, Wayne, Westland and other neighboring communities.

"Many times our gift layettes are critically needed to allow these cash-strapped mothers to be able to bring their infants home from the hospitals," Florence Klein, volunteer director of Helping Hand, explained.

"One family without a crib was placing their baby in a dresser drawer until we were notified," Klein said.

In addition several area schools and churches recently donated large amounts of food and other holiday items to the Helping Hand store so that needy area families could have more enjoyable Christmas times.

Anyone wishing to make holiday donations can stop by the store between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. today and Thursday. The store will be closed next week, but will reopen on Jan. 4, 1994, Klein said.

Expectant mothers seeking aid from the Helping Hand store need referrals from a local social agency, church, etc., Klein said. But emergency cases sometimes can be handled over the phone, she explained.

"One of our biggest needs right now," Klein said, "is a larger quarters. A mobile classroom or similar such facility would be ideal. Currently we have to store baby furniture at another site."

Since all Helping Hand volunteers are unpaid, all funds and supplies donated are passed directly onto the needy families, Klein said.

"I just don't know what words are strong enough to thank the many donors and volunteers, who support us at Christmas time and other critical periods of the year. Without their help, we could never service the families we do," Klein continued.

More information is available at Helping Hand, 941-5323 on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursdays (except for next week), Klein said.

City clerk has unique holiday

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

Romulus City Clerk Linda Choate and her family have learned to make the very best of a good thing. Choate explained that for about a dozen years now, Christmas has lasted three days with her family, although the first day is fully devoted to her granddaughter's birthday celebration.

"About a dozen years ago my granddaughter, Jennifer, said 'why is it that every year wrapped in Christmas pa-per?" Choate said. Jennifer was born on Dec. 23.

"From then on we began our Christmas celebration a day early, but made sure that all of Jennifer's birthday presents were wrapped in birthday paper," Choate said.

"Then on Christmas Eve our extended family would come to our house for a dinner and gift exchange," Choate continued, "and since our home is relatively small and the family that I get my birthday present large, it was often filled to capacity with people and large bags filled with presents."

We would celebrate until about 11 p.m. on Christmas Eve, she said, and the next day we would travel to Mom's house for the actual Christmas dinner.

'Sometimes it gets confusing since the first girl born in our family has always been named Linda. So we call Mom by the name "Evelyn", "Choate laughed. "By the time Christmas day is over we are partied out," she concluded.

Airport holiday parking grows

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

More than 700 new deck and 300 short-term parking spaces became available at Detroit Metro Airport in time for the busy Christmas-New Years holiday season.

Deputy Airport Director Jack Dodge said to help celebrate the holidays, Metro Airport has reduced the maximum daily rate in longterm sections of the parking deck from $9 to $6 through Jan.

"During the holiday season, our customers can choose the covered, closed-in, parking deck for the same maximum daily rate as our long term (green and yellow) surface lots," Dodge said.

The re-opening of the northern portion of the parking deck represents the completion of Phase III of the Metro Airport massive parking deck replacement project. Phase IV, the demolition and reconstruction of the southern portion, will be completed by December 1994.

Convenient features yet to come include moving walkways to speed passengers from their parking spaces to the crosswalks; an express ramp, to allow exiting motorists to drive to the exit plaza directly from the upper floors; a flyover bridge, allowing vehicle access from the upper level of Rogell Drive; and an elevated pedestrian bridge above both levels of Rogell Drive, eliminating the need for passengers to cross busy lanes of clined to provide any information."

Johnson said he is puzzled about why the court officers would schedule an auction with a minimum of advertising, with some being slated on Sunday mornings when citizens would not normally expect an auction to be conducted.

"The auctions have been poorly attended, probably due to the limited knowledge of when and where they will be conducted," Johnson said. "It seems to me that if you want a successful auction, you would want as many people as possible in attendance to bid aggressively, and to boost the prices."

Johnson said he has requested notification of auctions, but has not received any prior notice from the court. He has been told that there are three postings - in the 34th District Court, in the Romulus Post Office and at Romulus City Hall.

"I also haven't been able to obtain information about the results of the auction. For example, if there is a $500 judgment and property worth $1,000 is auctioned to satisfy the judgment, what would happen to the amount above the judgment?" Johnson questioned. "I understand that those conducting the auction are entitled to receive seven percent of the first $1,000 and three percent on amounts higher than that as a fee. They also may collect for expenses, such as mileage and storage."

Johnson reported that he received a "cryptic" message from a woman who identified herself as someone close to one of the court officers. She told Johnson that shortly after he was hired as a court officer, the man of her acquaintance began to bring various items home and carried large amounts of cash - $7,000 at one time - in his boot.

The information was relayed to an investigating agency, but no action has been taken, Johnson said.

"I think one of two things should happen," Johnson said. "Either the auctions should be opened up for people outside the court to handle or they should be operated totally by the court. Which ever method is used, those who conduct the auctions should provide information on what is auctioned, who purchased it and how much was paid for the item."

Johnson said current legislation mandates that court officers conduct the auctions, but it does not provide reporting guidelines for them or mandate that they be accountable to the court or to the District Control Unit (representatives of the five communities.)

"Now that we are looking into the court operations, I believe we should continue to move forward in focusing on accountability," Johnson said. "I think we are moving in the right direction. Rather than to look upon our questioning of the procedures as negative, it should be viewed as a positive step in seeing that accountability is established."

More than just promises

From its first contact with the City of Romulus, beginning in 1990, Environmental Disposal Systems' Deepwell Injection Facility has meant many things to many people. Over the last several months, we at EDS have been working very hard to explain to Romulus residents what the project means to us. Our message hasn't changed during the past three years. We sincerely believe our project will benefit EDS, the City of Romulus and its residents.

Since our first presentation to the City Council and Administration, we have recognized the sensitive nature of our project. Throughout the fall of 1980, we spoke to the City about a direct benefit to be paid to the City in the form of a royalty. Other economic benefits will include: jobs, and increased payroll and property tax revenue. Additional benefits will flow from construction and continuing operations at the facility including; subcontract opportunities, educational programs, and the purchase of services and supplies from local companies.

Above all else, our project has always represented and environmentally safe and cost effective means of disposal for liquid industrial wastes. Protecting Michigan's environment through proven deepwell technology has always been our primary goal. We have addressed this issue on many occasions and continue to present our project throughout the community in any way possible. Recently, we have run copies of letters regarding deepwell technology in this and other newspapers. We will continue this campaigning so that you may fully understand our project and what it represents and, indeed, what it does not.

We have always taken an open approach in dealing with the City. Re-printed below is a letter which was delivered to the Administration and Members of City Council at the council meeting of November 22, 1993. It was accompanied by an Outline for an Economic Development Proposal which EDS feels will be the best way to deliver the benefits described. Included in this proposal is a mechanism for the City and concerned residents to monitor EDS' operation for compliance with the State and Federal laws to which we are accountable.

We are sharing this letter with you, the citizens of Romulus, so you will know first hand what we are prepared to do as a good corporate citizen and how we intend to deliver the goods, not just promises.

We believe our position is clear. The real issues have been addressed, and it is time to move past the rhetoric that is so damaging to everyone. Romulus City Council and the Administration took a courageous step three years ago in acknowledging the Deepwell Project. We believe they had the facts and made the right decision. We ask the residents of Romulus to learn about our project, the benefits it represents, and support that decision. EDS and the citizens of Romulus can work together to make this partnership a success.

Order in the court

Problems that are plaguing the 34th District Court have been brought into the light, and, hopefully, the cloud that has covered the court since March is beginning to dissi-

A virtual blackout of news, prompted in part by the continuing investigation into the missing $270,000, has ended with the release of information about the court probe. We hope that as the need for secrecy diminishes, a new spirit of openness will replace it.

In the absence of concrete information, rumors and speculation have proliferated throughout the five communities served by the district court. The grapevine gossip, insinuations and innuendoes have harmed the reputation of the 34th District Court during the past few months.

Although no allegations have been levied against the three judges, the integrity and honesty of the court have been questioned as the news of missing money and the reports of careless handling of court funds have been made known.

We believe the court should set a standard of integrity higher than that which we would expect from the average person. In its dealings, court officers and officials should avoid the very appearance of evil with those in and out of the courtroom setting. In fact, the court should establish a standard of honesty and integrity which others would strive to emulate. How else can we expect respect for the judicial system?

In spite of the recent revelations, not enough questions have been answered, and we hope that the three judges with be forthright in responding to those queries in the near future. As long as questions remain unanswered and policies remain unexplained, the cloud will remain over

Is it true that court officers have conducted auctions that were poorly advertised and that proceeds from the auctions have not been made public?

Have purchases been made without competitive bidding?

Is it true that trips made by judges were paid for by the 34th District Court?

Is it true that, despite protests from the District Control Unit, leased Lincoln Town Cars were provided for the three judges?

Were requests by the District Control Unit made several years ago dismissed by the court?

We believe the residents of the five communities - those who elected the three judges to office - are entitled to the answers to these questions. We also believe that the residents of the communities served by the court are entitled to information about the operation of the court, its policies and financial status on a continuing basis.

A meeting of the minds

The existing situation in the city of Romulus where a deepwell project for the disposal of hazardous waste has been begun will affect every citizen if present levels of emotion continue to run rampant.

If the city meets the Jan. 26 court date to present charges against Environmental Disposal Systems (EDS), the builders of the project, they will have reportedly spent close to $100,000 in taxpayers' money for legal fees. EDS President Douglas Wicklund estimates that the legal bills for attorneys representing his company will meet or exceed that amount.

We can think of much better uses for those funds. Think of the city services and public and civic projects which could be funded in Romulus for the $200,000 spent in this emotional battle for public favor. It seems ludicrous.

We would suggest a community committee or commission with members from the group which so vehemently and strongly opposes the well (RECAP), members from EDS, representatives from the city council and perhaps two more independent citizens be appointed and charged with obtaining and proliferating the correct and accurate information regarding the project and deepwells in gen-

Too many members, of course, will make the project unwieldy and unmanageable and end could be counter productive. Perhaps if each group or segment involved

AIDS campaign is criticized

To the editor:

The recent decision to unveil a national AIDS ad campaign for young people that encourages condom usage is very disappointing and revealing. Health experts say the ads mark a new "era" of frankness in AIDS prevention programs. Guess what? The word "era" was misspelled. It should be

"error" because this decision is a terrible mistake. Apparently it is the adults who need the education. Condoms don't prevent AIDS! "CONDOMS CONDONE! AB-STINENCE AVOIDS!" It's time for this country to accept the truth, like it or not. The attitudes of certain health experts suggest to the young that they can keep playing without paying, act without consequences, do what they "feel" even if it is immoral. How misleading, untruthful and damaging to our youth! This decision, if left unchallenged, can only have detrimental repercussions, as the future will attest to.

"Health experts" should start utilizing that part of their body above their waist aka 'waste line', even their brains, to make wise decisions. Hasn't it occurred to anyone that the cure for AIDS is even suggested in its name? A = Acknowledge, I = Inequities, D = Depart from S = Sin. It's that

DON QUIXOTE

America, in order to find a solution to a problem, one must first realize what the problem is and be willing to admit to it. Stop lying against the truth! It's time for honesty in this country. We've seen enough avoidance, recklessness, immorality and irresponsibility. Grow up!

Resident thanks township board

To the editor:

As a member of the silent majority, I must commend the current Van Buren Township Board of Trustees. They have been pro-active while being fiscally responsible, and have brought many positive things to Van Buren Township. They stand-up to the plate and deal with issues in an open and honest manner.

I recall when a former board failed in their attempt for an additional 4 mills in taxes for water/sewer, while the current administration said we could do it with the existing millage. Twelve-year tax abatements were once given to any industrial development that asked. This board has said no, and yet they attract quality development based on the many fine amenities Van Buren Township has to offer. This board began a Downtown Development Authority which has and will continue to enhance our township. Our senior program was expanded through the aggressive pursuit of grant funding. Our part-time Parks and Recreation Department was expanded to full-time, offering many more programs and activities for one and all. Our park has never looked so good. We now have weekly rubbish collection with carts. Do we forget when we had rubbish collection every two weeks, unless we the homeowner paid the extra money for weekly collection? These are just a few of the many fine accomplishments, all WITHOUT a tax increase.

I find it insulting that few people have appointed themselves as the speakers of all residents of the township. Where was their interest when their husbands and/or wives were members of the township board? Let's not forget about Maxine Heifner's husband or Steve Kuchta's wife and their measure of accomplishments while they were board members from 1984-1988. Perhaps the silent majority found their performance to be less than acceptable, and that's the reason why they were not returned to office. I can understand loyal opposition, but disloyal opposition to Van Buren Township is unaccept-

I choose not to let these few speak on my behalf. I am very happy and pleased with the current administration. They work for the betterment of Van Buren Township 24 hours a day, not eight hours a day. I have spoken with other residents of Van Buren Township, and guess what, they also share my views.

To the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees, thank you for your hard work on behalf of the residents of Van Buren Township. Keep it up.

Opinion of editor blasted

The Dec. 8th editorial on your Opinion page has us very angry. You have been following Romulus politics long enough to know that your statements against Mayor Beverly McAnally and Linda Choate are totally untrue.

You couched your accusation in the phrase, "could easily be interpreted as". Well, we do not interpret Mayor McAnally's administration as anything but honest and above board. For one thing Romulus council meetings are open to the public, aired live on cable TV and the tape rerun later in the week.

Your editorial was the most nasty, mean-spirited piece of drivel we have ever read in any newspaper. You will not find more honorable people in or out of politics than Beverly McAnally and Linda Choate.

You owe these people an apology. L. Profitt

Operation Noah contributors are thanked

To the editor:

On behalf of The Salvation Army and those who will benefit from your gift to disaster victims, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Associated Newspapers for your gift of to Operation Noah.

Our people have been working around the clock to feed the hungry, house displaced families and provide solace and comfort to the weary.

The cleanup of the area will be a long, hard fought battle. Donations such as yours-will provide for the extended cleanup operation which will soon begin. These efforts are expected to continue, for at least five to six weeks.

Again, we appreciate your participation with us in Operation Noah.

Clinton Bogle, Dec. 25

After our list of December birthdays was published in the Dec. 15 edition of Associated Newspapers, several more western Wayne County residents wrote to be included in our list of celebrators.

We received a letter from friends of Nora Cecil, who turned 37 on Dec. 15.

"She always lovingly teases us about getting older or for being older than she is. With all of the teasing, she never forgets the birthdays of friends by sending cards and making singing telephone calls.

"She loves making people feel special on their special day, so please help us make her feel special on her special day, " her friends wrote.

Nora observed her birthday on the same day as billionaire J. Paul Getty, and we hope that helps to make her prosper during the coming year.

Angie Hicks, Dec. 14

And, if for some reason EDS does not prevail in the courtroom, it seems only reasonable to expect that they will appeal-prolonging the battle and costing the citizens of Romulus even more in tax-funded legal bills. We'd like to offer an olive branch of compromise here and suggest that this commission or committee be formed and official appointments and sanctions outlined by the city in an effort to heal the wounds which are only going to infect and fester in the courts.

We think the reasonable exchange of information is the answer here. We only hope someone will do something about it.

Wayne Memorial is off to a 4-0 cage start

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

Wayne Memorial High School cagers are off to a 4-0 start, but with state-ranked and perennial state title contender Detroit Cooley in town last night, that modest win streak could be broken.

Wayne coach Chuck Henry says that Cooley "probably will be the most talented team we will face this year.

"And over the years we have met them in playoff situations. With the exception of one game when they blew us away, these games have been close ones, "Henry added.

Wayne breezed past Dearborn, 64-51, in its first Mega Conference game Thursday night on the Pioneers' court for its fourth win of the season. Earlier last week, the Zebras trampled Livonia Franklin, 60-

Wayne had its problems breaking loose against Dearborn. The Zebras looked like they were going to blow the Pioneers into the Rouge River as they jumped out in front 14-4.

Defense-minded Wayne came back and outscored their hosts, 12-7, to go back on top, 26-22, at halftime.

Sweeping eight out of a possible 12 first places, Wayne Memorial turned back natural rival, Westland John Glenn, 115-69, in the opening swim meet for both schools.

Coach Randy Ferguson's Zebras made it 2-0 on the year by jolting Allen Park, 59-34, to launch the Mega Conference era. The meet was a "crossover" between the two conference rivals.

"We have about 15 swimmers out for the team this year," said Ferguson, whose tankers must pay-to-swim because the school district lacks funding for varsity athletics. "I feel we should have a pretty good season." Two Wayne tankers carded double wins against the Westlanders. Greg Barber and Matt Ferguson, the coach's brother, got off to a good start against Romulus, a perennial area power on the wrestling mats, disposed of Plymouth-Canton, 61-12, and destroyed Wayne Memorial, 46-27.

The usually-reserved Romulus coach Norm Butler said that he was happy about the team's early success, but noted "that we're a good but young team this year.'

"This was a crucial game for us," said Inkster coach Monte Dennard, whose Vikings are now 4-0 on the season. "We have now played four quality teams and have won all four games."

The Inkster victory also sent a message to the rest of the SAC pack that the Vikings are ready to give battle for the conference championship. In recent years, Inkster has finished in the middle of the SAC.

White, groomed as one of the top prep cagers in Michigan this year, also grabbed 15 rebounds, blocked six shots and delivered seven assists in his best performance of the young season. Teammate James Outlaw counted 15 points and 10 rebounds before the evening en-

Up 21-17 at the end of the first period, Inkster increased its lead to 38-29 at the half. Both teams displayed a ferocious defense in the third as White and Outlaw denied the Redskins access to the Viking basket. But at the end of the quarter, Oak Park cut the Viking lead to

That set up the shootout in the final period and, with the help of Imbrhim Myles, who held Oak Park's prolific scorer, Ryan Perryman, scoreless in the finale, the Vikings managed to pull out the big victory.

Perryman, a 6-7 senior guard, sank 14 points for the Redskins.

Earlier in the week, the Vikings disposed of East Catholic, 84-73, as Outlaw had a career and game high 29 points.

Inkster bolted to a 25-9 first period lead, increased that margin to 46-24 at the half and never looked back. White again excelled at both ends of the court as he pulled down 17 rebounds to go along with his 16 points. The Vikings also got 15 points from Maurice Ballard.

The Vikings will use the holidays to prepare for their natural rival Robichaud. The two SAC foes are scheduled for Jan. 4. The Bulldogs on Saturday defeated Detroit Cody and were to play Romulus in the finals last night of the Romulus Holiday Tournament.

Rockets undefeated in 1993

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

If 1994 goes as well as 1993 did for coach Michael Schuette and Westland John Glenn High School cagers, you probably won't hear any complaints from the Rockets.

Glenn started the 1993-94 campaign with an impressive 80-65 victory over the Ypsilanti Braves last week and, because of a scheduling mixup, they will not play their second game until after the New Year.

"You can say that we are undefeated in 1993," quipped Schuette, who is in his second year as head coach. "Now, if the rest of the season goes this way, I don't think anyone will complain."

Schuette, however, is a realist and with such powers as Wayne Memorial, Walled Lake Central, Plymouth Salem and Canton waiting in the wing, he knows that the waters not only in the Western Lakes but out of the conference will be

In fact, Schuette sees a stormy conference title race stacking up. It will be one of the closest in recent years, he predicts." "Looking over the rosters of the returning lettermen," Schuette said, "I would think that Salem and Northville are the frontrunners while Central is also in the thick of the race."

You can say that we are undefeated for 1993.

Michael Schuette

But Schuette - with returning 6-5, 206 pound senior Tony Goins, 6-10 1/2 center Guy Rucker, 6-1 Brent Washington and three-point specialist Savon Hubbard returning to the lineup must be given serious consideration as a contender.

Also, the Rockets have Al Jones, a 6-2 sophomore, and Tariq Horne, a 5-10 senior, who have the versatility to do the job.

"I think we're going to be right there with those teams," said Schuette, whose Rockets finished in the middle of the conference pack with a 12-9 won-lost record a year ago. "The presence of Rucker around the basket and with Goins, who I feel is probably the best kept secret in these parts, plus a hard core of dedicated players, we're going to be all-right this year."

Goins launched his senior year with a 29point performance against Ypsi and he is emerging as the Rockets' leader.

The Rockets begin the 1994 phase of their season on Jan. 4, a Tuesday, when they will travel to Ann Arbor Huron for a nonconference game scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Salem is 'looking a lot better'

Scoring two big victories last week, Plymouth-Salem cagers improved their record to 3-1 on the year. The Rocks buried Ann Arbor Huron 61-51 behind a superb all-around performance by senior captain James Head who scored 24 points. grabbed 17 rebounds and dished out five assists. Teammate Harold Shank chipped in 10 points - all coming in the second half. Salem jumped to a 15-6 lead over the River

Rats and widened the margin, 30-16, to coast to the win.

"We's looking a lot better," said veteran Salem coach Bob Brodie. "We're getting the job done at both ends of the court.'

Although Huron managed to close within eight points midway in the third period, key baskets by Head, Shank and Joe Measle, who had nine for the game, finished off their nonleague rivals.

Head fired in a career high 29 points, 16 of those in a turnaround second period, to lead the Rocks to a 20-point, 71-51, victory over Ypsi's Braves. The Braves stayed close (12-12) for one period before the Rocks erupted to a 20-8 second period to break the game open.

"Our defense is holding teams to under 60 points, and that's made the difference in the past two games," Brodie added.

Salem ended the 1993 phase of the season with a 3-1 record. They will return to the hardwood on Jan. 4 when they host Riverview.

Les Miserables meets unending applause

he sensational award-winning musical which continues to capture the hearts of audiences of all ages is now playing at the Fisher Theatre through Jan. 8.

Based on Victor Hugo's popular noval, Les Miserables is an epic saga of 19th century France in which the heroic fugitive Jean Valjean is engaged in a lifelong struggle to evade capture by the cruel and self-righteous Inspector Javert.

There are many outstanding actors and actresses in this production. One cast member who is making her first appearance with the national company recently discussed with the Associated Newspapers her unique role as a "Swing" in Les Miserables.

Cyndi Neal previously played Mrs. Darling in Peter Pan and Tessie in Gypsy. Her other performances have included Reno in the Far Eastern Tour of Anything Goes, Dorothy Brock in 42nd Street and Fastrada in Pippin.

As a swing, Neal has mastered 12 character female ensemble parts in the Les Miserables production. She fills in when the actresses playing the various roles go on a break, are sick or are in need of personal time off. Neal said she has always enjoyed performing before a live audience, Sound of Music.

"I actually first performed when I was 5 years old, I took dance lessons," Neal said. "Then, I got shy and went through a period where I didn't want to do anything.

even when she was a teenager in high school starring in her first play

"When I was around 15 years old, I performed in my first musical The Sound of Music where I was in the nuns' chorus."

After her first taste of stardom, Neal said she decided to get involved with community theaters.

"At that time I decided to be practical and thought I couldn't do this for a living," Neal said. "Someone said to me in a community theater show who was a professional actor, 'Why don't you do this for a living. I'm calling this theater where I worked at, and telling them you are coming for an audition so you can't make me look bad, and you have to go."

"So he forced me to take the step I really wanted to take anyway."

To learn 12 ensemble parts for an international production is no easy task, however, Neal has managed to perfect each character role with ease.

"In this situation, when you are a swing, you are fortunate because you get to watch the show a lot," Neal said. "You take a tape recorder, and you record the movement of everyone. You follow the people with one track at

"You write it all down on a book, and you can study up before you have to go on. You could call it our swing bible."

Neal said the hardest part about being a swing is waiting to go on. "As a swing you're not on every show," Neal said. "It's the waiting that's the hardest because you want to be on all the time."

Neal joined the Les Miserables company about eight months ago. She said she has enjoyed meeting the cast and studying the various parts. "I had a two-week rehearsal period where I wouldn't be put on," Neal said. "Then after that, anything could happen. Even if I hadn't learned a certain role, I could be put on and fake it if I had to. It all depends on the circumstances."

Neal said it took her several months before she was able to perform all

Neal said it took her several months before she was able to perform all of the 12 female roles. Is this multi-talented performer still shy from time to time?

"Not so much any more," Neal said. "I've been on enough. When I first joined the company, I remember our dance captain saying 'You'll have terror for a year.' Luckily I've got past the terror part before a year has been up."

Les Miserables is a unique musical production which draws audiences to visit again and again. Neal said she believes the popularity of the show is due to the theme being so universal.

"It's about spiritual rebirth," Neal said. "No matter what your religious beliefs are, it speaks to you in some way. You can't help but leave there feeling spiritual."

When Neal auditioned for a part in Les Miserables, she said she didn't know what part she was going to get, but she knew in her heart that her opportunity had arrived.

"An agent that I was free-lancing with said an audition had been set up for Les Miserables on a Tuesday," Neal said. "They didn't tell me it was for swing or any role.

Neal said she sang a couple of songs for the producer. When she finished her performance side of the interview, the producer asked her if she was funny.

"I stopped to think about that one, and then I said 'Yes," Neal said. "He asked if I knew anyone on the road. I worked in the same building where I interviewed. Later that day, he came up to our offices and told my boss 'Don't let anyone move. I'm going to give her the job, but don't tell anyone."

Neal said the producer and casting director went up to the office where she was working and she noticed all of the executives coming

JUST MARRIED

Knust-Jenks

Brenda M. Knust and Robert J. Jenks exchanged wedding vows April 17, 1993 at St. Anthony Church in Belleville.

Father Tom Cusick officiated at the double-ring ceremony witnessed by more than 200 guests. Music at the church was provided by Tim Dressel and Rebecca Rocha performed vocal selections at the wedding.

The bride is the daughter of Ernie and Alene Knust of Sunset Lane in Belleville.

The groom's parents are David and Carol Ann Jenks of Concord, Mich.

The bride chose a cathedral length satin and lace gown. The bodice was highlighted with pearls, sequins and lace. A starburst pattern of pearls and sequins adorned the puffed sleeves which tapered and to the wrist and were accented with more pearls and lace. A matching starburst pattern complemented her train.

A headband of satin and pearls held her cathedrallength veil in place. The veil and headpiece were handmade by Abby Kahn, the mother of the matron of

The bride, escorted down the aisle by her father, carried a bouquet of a dozen white roses accented with Astoria and babies' breath. Among the roses, the bride placed her greatgrandmother's watch.

Matron of honor at the ceremony was Stacey Cendrowski of Ann Arbor, a friend of the bride. She wore a long teal-colored satin gown with short sleeves and white satin gloves. She carried a bouquet of white and teal-colored carnations.

Bridesmaids included Rose Knust of Schnellville, Ind., a cousin of the bride; Jennifer Jenks of Concord, Mich., a sister of the groom and Lisa Walraven of Essexville, Mich., a cousin of the bride.

Traveling from town to town with a production can be grueling, however, Neal said the cast of Les Miserables is a lot like a family.

"It's a great group of people," Neal said. "It has a lot of the same dynamics a family does. Sometimes you get on each other's nerves. But most of the time you are there for each other, and we celebrate all the birthdays and holidays.'

What's in store for the future for this intriguing actress? "My dream has always been to get to Broadway," Neal said. "I would like to be able to say I've been on Broadway. There's something about live theater with the energy exchange. I don't think there is anything that can beat it."

Les Miserables has been seen by more than 30 million people worldwide and has won 32 major awards including the 1987 Tony Award for best musical, musical honors from the New York Drama Critics Circle, the Drama Desk Award and the London Critics Circle Award.

Quote of the Week

It's still hard for me to think about, but I decided it was time. The city has been very good to me. I've enjoyed every minute.

Wayne Fire Chief Wayne Bennett announcing his Dec. 31 retirement after serving the Wayne community for more than 28 years.

Of Note:

Area man killed

A 21-year-old Westland man was killed during a house fire in Detroit on Tuesday, Detroit Police said.

Police have arrested a 25-yearold woman in connection with the alleged arson which caused the death of Steven Rosati of Westland. Rosati reportedly died from burns and smoke inhalation, according to police.

Rosati's body was found around 5:26 a.m. in the living room of a Detroit home, located at 6302 Tarnow Street, police said. It is unknown why Rosati was at the home, but no other persons were inside the home at the time of the fire, according to police.

According to family members, Rosati was renting an apartment in the home for about four weeks. Rosati's sister, Peggy Fenwick, said the woman accused of the crime lived in the apartment below her brother and the two were acquaintances. Fenwick said she didn't know how the fire was started, but believed it was intentionally set.

Mr. Rosati is survived by his parents Anthony and Carol, sister Peggy Fenwick, grandparents Joseph Rosati and Lucille Ebling, Aunt Rose Rozner, Uncle Leonard Rosati and Nick Rosati.

Funeral services for Mr. Rosati will be at 10 a.m. Dec. 27 at Ziomek Funeral Home in Livonia and 10:30 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne. Mr. Rosati will be buried in My Lady of Hope Cemetery in Brownstown Township.

Car drags officer

A Van Buren Township police officer was dragged 50 feet by a vehicle which apparently caught her as it pulled away from a stop.

Police officer Lou Ann Hamblin was directing traffic around fire department vehicles which were parked on the Interstate-94 South Service Drive. As Hamblin approached the car to talk to the driver, somehow she was caught by the vehicle and was dragged for appoximately 50 feet.

Hamblin was conveyed to St. Joseph's Hospital by Huron Valley Ambulance and was treated and released the same day.

The driver left the scene and was later apprehended at a shopping center at Rawsonville Road and I-94. When interviewed by State Police Troopers, the driver said he had panicked and didn't know what had happened.

The state police plan to seek charges against the man.

Police seek driver

Little is known about the circumstances surrounding the death of a 24- year-old Canton Township man Dec. 20.

Ronald Day died of multiple injuries following a hit-and-run accident on Interstate-275 in Huron Township, Michigan State Police indicate. The man was struck by several cars, but witnesses told police they believe the driver of a dark-colored Ford van initiated the 10 p.m. accident.

Witnesses described the driver of the Ford van as a short, thin, white woman with brown hair in her late 20s. Police are seeking the driver and anyone who might have seen the accident.

Anyone with information is encouraged to call Michigan State Police at 782-2435.

Round 4 School assault battle continues in courtroom

By JENNIFER PLACINTO ANP Staff Writer

Former Wayne-Westland school board member Sharon Felan entered a plea of not guilty during her arraignment on charges of assault and battery before Westland 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos on Thursday.

Felan is accused of shoving current Wayne-Westland school board member Patricia Brown into a wall just outside the school board meeting room on Nov. 23.

Felan was released on a $5,000 personal conditional bond, with the stipulation that she have no contact with the complainant. However, Felan, who has applied for the vacated Wayne-Westland school board seat of Leonard Posey, will be allowed to attend public school board meetings and the board/candidate interviews to be conducted in mid-January.

If convicted, Felan could face a maximum of 30 days in jail and/or a $500 fine.

Bokos said there is a "strong possibility" the matter will not be heard before either himself or 18th District Judge Gail McKnight because Brown obtained the assistance of City Council member Sandra Cicirelli during the initial stages of the complaint.

Because the court is seen to have close ties with the city, working together in the DARE program and many other situations, Bokos said, both judges may disqualify themselves from the case and set the matter before another district judge.

Brown signed a warrant complaint Tuesday morning after Westland Prosecuting Attorney Donald Vandersloot approved the warrant Dec. 13.

"I looked at what the police report stated. It appears to be assault and battery. I approved the case," Vandersloot said.

Although both Felan and Brown refused to discuss the issue, Felan's attorney, Michael Ostroski, had some strong words in defense of his client.

"My client didn't do anything. She will be found not guilty and when she is, appropriate legal action against Ms. Brown will be taken," Ostroski said.

Ostroski would not elaborate on the threatened legal action, but did say he's ready for trial. "We want our trial," Ostroski said.

The charge resulted from a complaint filed by Brown with the Westland Police Department following an alleged Nov. 23 physical assault on Brown by Felan. Felan filed a statement with Westland police one-week later denying the accusations and citing four witnesses who, Ostroski said, would deny any physical confrontation.

Brown told police Felan shoved her during an argument just outside the Wayne-Westland School Board meeting room, where a school meeting was in progress.

Board member Vicki Welty and Assistant Superintendent of Schools Gary Dell rushed out of

Wish comes true Community 'Santas' bring holiday joy

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER News Editor

A visually handicapped Romulus man didn't expect much for the holidays, but through caring neighbors and new-found friends, his Christmas was merrier beyond his expectations.

A neighbor of Tom Glaspie's wrote to Associated Newspapers requesting toys for his two sons, 8 and 10. Not only were arrangements were made to provide toys for the two boys, but an anonymous donor provided Santa Claus with two bicycles that St. Nick delivered in person on Thursday evening.

Glaspie is a diabetic who resides alone on Wahrman Road, and is visited every other week by his two sons. During the summer, Glaspie spent most of his time in and out of hospitals due to complications of diabetes which left him almost blind. He recently had eye surgery, which has restored some of his sight.

"This man was a very active man who no longer drives a car and has trouble walking to the nearby store," his neighbor wrote. "He is a kind and caring divorced dad who is unable to get gifts for his sons. He is a proud man, and I haven't told him that I'm writing this letter."

The neighbor noted that Clasmic has had problems

The neighbor noted that Glaspie has had problems making ends meet, and has been unable to provide any "extras" for himself or his sons.

When Associated staff members visited Glaspie they found that Romulus man had no Christmas tree, and they obtained "the best Christmas tree on the lot" from a local tree seller.

"It was very touching. The two boys had made their father a Christmas tree out of carpet to make up for him not having a real tree," said Circulation Manager Cheryl Bates. "When we brought the tree to him, he was very appreciative. Right away, he told us that he was going to string popcorn and make old-fashioned decorations for the tree."

Stalking victim terrorized

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

The past two months have been just "hell" for a 30-year-old Inkster woman.

The woman told police that her former boyfriend has terrorized her, assaulted and beaten her and forced her to have sex with him.

The woman, who resides in the 4000 block of Lovett, said she had broken off the relationship with her 27-year-old boyfriend in October. Since then she says the boyfriend continues to telephone her, begging her to take him back. "And when I refuse," the victim told Inkster police, "he becomes combative, chokes and strikes her.

"And has forced her to have sex with him," she stated.

Widow of former Associated publisher dies at 80

Mildred Rose Willett, 80, widow of Wesley Willett, former co-owner and publisher of Associated Newspapers, Inc. died Wednesday morning at Plymouth Court nursing home of complications following a fall.

Mrs. Willett was well-known in the western Wayne County community.

Her husband and a partner, Ray Clift, published The Belleville Enterprise, The Romilus Roman, The Inkster Ledger-Star, The Canton Eagle, The Wayne Eagle and The Westland Eagle for nearly 20 years prior to selling the publications to a conglomerate in 1968. The publications are presently owned by his son, David J. Willett.

Mrs. Willett, according to many friends and acquaintances, was considered a remarkable woman both for her gentle nature and her striking beauty.

"She was truly one of the loveliest women I have ever seen. During my entire childhood people would remark about how beautiful my mother was. But, more than that, if I learned one thing from my mother, it was how to love. She was the most loving, gentle personality one could imagine," said Mrs. Willett's son, David.

"Her children and grandchildren all benefited from that enormous capacity for unconditional love. She epitomized caring. We teased her about being the family news center—she never failed to keep us all informed about the events in each of our separate lives. She really was the glue that kept us together-she made us a family," Willett said.

Mrs. Willett was the daughter of Lyle C. and Hazel (Morrison) Remdt. She was born June 14, 1913 at the home of her grandmother in Findley, Ohio. She lived for some time in Centerville, Mich. where her father was a bookkeeper for the Denton Sleeping Garment Co. She moved with her family to Toledo and attended Scott High School where she graduated in 1932. She met her future husband at Sand Lake, Mich. that same year. Her father had rented a the lake cottage for the summer from his boss which was next door to the Willett family cottage. She and Mr. Willett were married June 16, 1934 in Monroe.

She is survived by their four children, Marilynn (Wes) Gardner of Plymouth, Barbara Larkin of Ann Arbor, Ronald (Nina) Willett of Ann Arbor and David J. (Susan) of Westland.

She is also survived by 13 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren, and a sister, Ilene Hammann of Clearwater, Fla. She was predeceased by a sister, Sue Fritz of Westland and a granddaughter, Brandi Simcheck.

Services for Mrs. Willett will be at the Uht Funeral Home in Westland at 11 a.m. Dec. 28. Burial will follow at Oakwood Cemetery in Adrian.

"My life was the best Christmas present I ever received," said Belleville resident Toby Leis, who recently underwent heart surgery.

Leis arrived at the hospital in serious condition and it was not known at the time if the surgery could successfully correct his condition.

"Before the operation, I didn't know whether I would live or die," Leis said. "There's no greater gift than the gift of live, and I'm really thankful to be alive and able to celebrate Christmas this year."

Leis said the operation has given him a new life and a new "Plan" means the Development Plan and Tax Increment Financing Plan adopted by the Authority and initially approved by Ordinance No. 86-245, and thereafter amended by Ordinance No. 89-259, and as further amended herein.

"Tax Increment Financing Plan" means the Tax Increment Financing Plan prepared by the Authority pursuant to Section 14 of Act 197 and which is part of the Plan.

Section 2. Preamble. The City Council of the City of Belleville, County of Wayne, State of Michigan, previously has adopted the Plan pursuant to Ordinance No. 86-245 and amendments thereto pursuant to Ordinance No. 89-259. The Authority has submitted further amendments to the Plan to the City Council pursuant to the provisions of Act 197 after solicitation of public input from business and property owners and residents within the Authority district and from other governmental units. The City Council has conducted a public hearing on the proposed amendments to the Plan, with notice thereof given in accordance with Section 18 of Act 197, has reviewed the proposed amendments to the Plan, and desires to approve the proposed amendments to the Plan and to make certain other amendments.

Section 3. Public Purpose; Best Interest. The City Council hereby determines upon review of the proposed amendments to the Plan that the Plan, as proposed to be amended and as further amended therein, constitutes a public purpose, and that it is in the best interests of the public to proceed with the Plan and the amendments thereto in order to halt property value deterioration, to increase property tax valuation, to eliminate the causes of the deterioration in property values, and to promote growth in the City's downtown district.

Section 4. Approval Considerations. The City Council hereby bases its determination respecting the proposed amendments to the Plan upon the following considerations:

(a) The City Council has considered the recommendations made by residents within the Authority district at the Citizens In-Put Meeting held on December 13, 1993.

(b) The Development Plan meets the requirements set forth in Section 17 (2) of Act 197 and the Tax Increment Financing Plan meets the requirements set forth in Section 14 of Act 197. The Development Plan is further amended by adding the following sentence at the end of the first paragraph of Section 6:

The "Subdivision Amenities" and "Property Acquisition" projects on the Proposed Capital Projects list below includes, but is not limited to, acquisition and construction of a public park, street and streetscape improvements, street furniture and beautification, pedestrian improvements, lighting, and like public facilities related to the proposed residential development described in Section 8 below.

The Tax Increment Financing Plan is further amended as follows:

(1) Section 2 therein is amended by adding the clause ", but in no event to exceed $4,000,000" following "the DDA area".

(2) Section 3 therein is amended by adding the clause "or upon the retirement of all bonded indebtedness or other obligations issued hereunder, whichever is later," following "and ending

(3) Section 4 therein is amended by deleting the first sentence thereof and substituting the following sentence: "The captured assessed value of real and personal property within the development area equalized in 1993 is $3,101,975."

(c) The proposed method of financing the projects as described in the Development Plan and the Plan is feasible and the Authority has the ability to arrange the financing.

(d) The Development Plan and the Plan are reasonable and it is necessary to adopt the amendments to the Plan in order to carry out the purposes of Act 197.

(e) The estimated amount of captured assessed value resulting from adoption of the Plan is reasonable.

(f) The land included within the Authority's development area to be acquired under the Development Plan is reasonably necessary to carry out the purposes of the Development Plan and of Act 197 in an efficient and economically satisfactory manner.

(g) The Development Plan is in reasonable accord with the master plan of the City.

(h)All public services, including fire and police protection and utilities, are or will be adequate to service the project area.

(i) All changes in zoning, streets, street levels, intersections and utilities, to the extent required under the Development Plan, are reasonably necessary for the project and for the City.

(j) The City Council has reviewed the findings of the Legislature set forth in Section 1a of Act 197 and hereby makes and repeats such findings with respect to the City, and the provisions of Section 1a of Act 197 are hereby incorporated by reference as if set out in full.

Section 5. Plan Approval. Based on the foregoing considerations, the City Council hereby determines that it is in the best interest of the health and welfare of the City and necessary for the achievement of the purposes of Act 197 to adopt the Plan as proposed to be amended and as further amended herein.

Section 6. Repealers; Ratifications. All ordinances and parts of ordinances insofar as they expressly conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance be and the same hereby are repealed, but only to the extent of such express conflict, and each section of this Ordinance, Ordinance No. 85-241, Ordinance No. 86-244, Ordinance 86-245, and Ordinance No. 89-259, and each subdivision of any section thereof, is hereby declared to be independent, and the finding or holding of any section or subdivision thereof to be invalid or void shall not be deemed or held to affect the validity of any other section or subdivision of the ordinance of which it is a part. All prior ordinances and resolutions respecting the creation and approval of the Authority and the Plan are ratified, approved and confirmed.

Section 7. Effective Date. This Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon publication.

ADOPTED this 20th day of December, 1993

Seeing double Twins try out for film fame

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER News Editor

Folks who visited the Mariott Courtyard in Romulus last week, must have thought they were seeing double when pairs - and trios - of little boys began to line up at the doors.

began to line up at the doors.

The reason for the proliferation of identical twins and triplets at the Romulus hotel were auditions for movie parts being casted by Paramount Pictures.

A call was put out for black identical twins or triplets between the ages of 2 and 4 to star in an upcoming feature am. Although there was no requirement for film experience, the casting agency requested that the twins be "exceptionally outgoing and have a fearless personality."

Among the youngsters who auditioned were Deaaron and Darron Jackson, 2-1/2-year-old twins from Highland Park.

"I heard about it from a woman who saw the announcement in the newspaper. She told me to take Deaaron and Darron for a try-out. She said, 'Do it. It could be them,'" said their mother, Tyanne Jackson. "After the audition, the casting people told me to wait for a phone call. If I don't hear, that means they weren't chosen.

"I'm not going to sit by the phone and wait, but I do have an answering machine. If they call anytime, I can get the message," she said.

Although Jackson isn't counting on her twins becoming film stars, she believes they would give good performances.

"Darron is more active and playful, and so is Deaaron when he warms up," their mother said.

BEAUTY EXPERT REDEFINES AGE OLD SEX APPEAL THEORY

Move over Sean Connery. No longer does a little gray hair mean the end of sex appeal.

Women in the 1990s have captured the essence of glamor and they intend to continue looking, not younger, but more dynamic and gorgeous well into what used to be described as their golden years.

Mira Linder, author of Beauty Begins At Sixty-The Best Is Yet to Come and president of Mira Linder Spa In The City in Southfield, Toronto and Palm Beach, Fla., is a firm believer that beauty has to come from within to be reflected on the outside.

"Don't become a grown-up Barbie Doll, a victim of the great chase for a younger look," Linder said. "Go for sophistication. Develop your own personal style. Avoid trends. Clothes must do something special for the individual woman, so adapt trends to make your fashion statement."

trends to make your fashion statement."

Of the many beautiful women in their 60s today, who stands out as the most elegant and attractive? Elizabeth Taylor. A close second is the late Audrey Hepburn, according to Linder. Linder said too many people over 60 tend to stop living just when their lives begin offering new opportunities to improve themselves.

"Women take better care of themselves than men," Linder said. "It has a lot to do probably with having more time. In previous times, men were very involved with business and sports more so than women.

"Being active always helps a great deal to look younger."
When the housewife started to get out of the home and realized what life had to offer besides a husband and children, that's when she understood the necessity to look good and feel good, according to Linder.

"Life is so precious and is the most important thing," Linder said. "People forget that sometimes. When women began to take notice of themselves more in the late 1970s, they began to change their eating habits for the better, enjoyed outdoor life more and took a greater appreciation for their physical well being."

Linder said as older women began to look at themselves, they started to realize the need to look attractive, beautiful and appealing not younger Younger is not the word for us. I personally don't like to use the phrase 'senior citizen.' I would rather say, 'still active.' It's important older people not become a burden to their children or to society.

don't like to use the phrase 'senior citizen.' I would rather say, 'still active.' It's important older people not become a burden to their children or to society.

"Our obligation is to take care of ourselves. As women we can change anything, our nose, our cheeks, whatever it takes to look beautiful."

Looking and feeling beautiful, however, shouldn't begin at 60. Linder recommends teenagers start taking care of their skin now, watch their eating habits and exercise to prepare for later years.

"It's extremely important for teenagers to start the proper care now," Linder said. "It's important for them to have selfesteem early. All of the things teenagers worry about like poor skin or facial hair, they can all be taken care of so they can grow up with confidence.

"This way they can walk out the door feeling beautiful and looking beautiful."

Linder actually wrote Beauty five or six years ago. She said she didn't know it then, but she was quite ahead of the times when the book was published.

"Look how much it works for today's woman now," Linder said. "I even exercise with my granddaughter in my hmm, hmm age, and sometimes I do more than she does. I'm not going to tell you my age because I believe when people find out how old you are, they immediately get a picture of you.

"Looking beautiful and feeling beautiful is what counts."

Some of the beauty tips Linder recommends for women over 60 include:

 Think linear rather than hourglass. Become a camouflage expert if you don't have a perfect figure.

Blonde hair can look ridiculous on women with wrinkles.
 Go with the gray to change your look and individualize your personal statement.

Know that color adds life. When you have gray hair, you must ween makeup.

must wear makeup.

• Flaunt what you've got. Remember that makeup is not merely an application of color, it should also reflect your complexion, wardrobe and lifestyle.

Avoid the older-woman cliche of short hair. It's too mannish. Select a medium length for its face-framing benefits.

"Women 60 and over should have dreams and plans for the future, and they shouldn't stop having them," Linder said.

In terms of exercising for women 60 and over, Linder recommends finding an activity you can do every day and enjoy it.

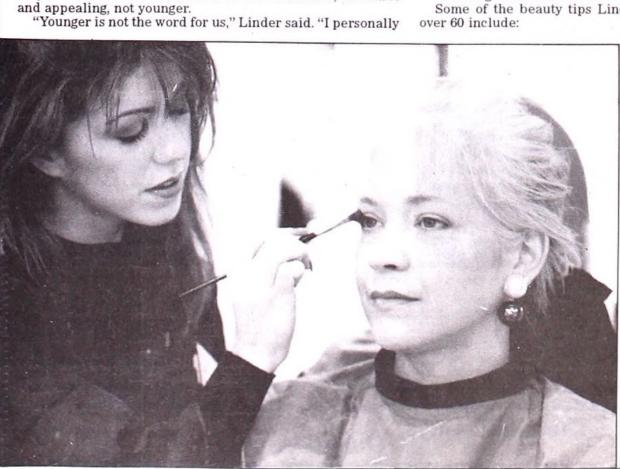

"The thing is to get up in the morning and be selfish," Linder said. "The rest of the day will be better if you make yourself happy with your looks and the way you feel.

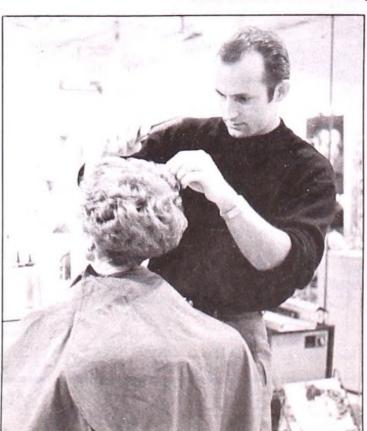

"I exercise, for instance, when I'm brushing my teeth. You can bend and stretch your legs. When you're talking to someone, you can stand with your feet crossed and stretch at the same time without anyone noticing."

Linder also recommends getting a massage every now and then to make you feel good

Open murder warrants sought in shooting death of Grosse Ile man

By TOM MOORADIAN ANP Staff Writer

Inkster police on Thursday said that they will seek murder warrants from the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office charging two men with the shooting death of a 27-year-old Grosse Ile man.

The victim apparently was killed "during a drug transaction that went bad", according to Inkster Detective Richard

"We have in custody two men - one from Inkster, the other from Detroit who will be charged with open murder,' Rashad said. "We have someone at the prosecutor's office right now seeking the war-

The suspects were arrested in connection with the shooting death of Dennis Niebryzdowski, who was shot in the 26200 block of Lehigh Street on Dec. 18.

Niebrzydowski and an acquaintance drove to Inkster with the intention of purchasing crack cocaine.

Niebrzydowski, who was driving a 1972 four-door Lincoln Continental, stopped on Lehigh and was approached by several young drug dealers, police said. The dealers attempted to rob Niebryzdowski who, instead of surrendering his money, accelerated his vehicle and drove off at a high rate of speed.

One of the would-be robbers Police said that fired a gunshot at the vehicle and the bullet struck Niebrzydowski in the back. Al-

The argument between the two lasted approximately 1-1/2 minutes and no injuries were sustained by either party, according to Westland police officer Debra Matthews.

Ostroski said Brown and Felan were arguing in the presence of Brown's roommate, Barbara Hodgkins, when Dell and Welty went into the hallway to quiet the conversation. Board member Laurel Raisanen and Colleen Hafkamp also witnessed the argument before leaving the building.

Raisanen and Hafkamp said they were passing by Brown and Felan and heard the conversation become loud, but saw no physical confrontation. Welty also denied witnessing any physical confrontation and Dell declined to comment.

Brown's former attorney, Sandra Cicirelli, said her client was shoved while talking with her roommate (Hodgkins) and that the assault occurred prior to the argument and that is why only Hodgkins saw the assault.

Police arrested the 27-yearold Inkster man, who they said "was very combative towards the officers.'

The woman told police that the stalker had slapped her and dragged her to his vehicle. She complained of back injuries and was rushed to an area hospital for observation.
